

THOUSANDS ATTEND OPENING OF PALO DURO

RANDALL CANDIDATES WILL TALK TO VOTERS

CROWD HIGHLY PLEASED WITH THE PALO DURO

Rodeo Attracts a Great Crowd During the Afternoon

7,000 ATTEND

Park Officials are Pleased With Opening Success

Nearly 7,000 people were visitors at the Palo Duro State Park yesterday for the formal opening of the Park. The festivities will continue daily through Sunday, and it is expected that large crowds from over the Plains will visit the Park each day.

D. E. Colp, chairman of the State Parks Board, is here, and officiated at the formal opening, heading the parade which entered the rodeo grounds at 2:30 o'clock. George L. Nason, federal district inspector of the National Park Service, and his assistant J. S. Gott, are with the party.

J. S. Billups, representing Robert Fecner of the National Parks Service, came from Washington for an official inspection of the Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Emory of Chicago joined the official party. Mr. Colp expressed great satisfaction at the large crowd which visited the Park in spite of the hot, dry day. Cars started to arrive at sunrise, and continued until late last night.

Fully 5,000 people drove down into the canyon for picnic lunches at the noon time. Others who came only for the rodeo, took time enough to drive down into the Park, either before or after the performance.

Mr. Colp states that the two CCC companies at the Park will be increased to 250 men each. Recruits are now being received, and he expects that both companies will be to full strength by next week. Five new companies have (Continued on last page)

SATURDAY NITE SET FOR LOCAL CANDIDATES

District Candidates To Address Voters on Tuesday

VOTERS INVITED

Speaking Programs To Start at 8:30 p. m.

Randall county candidates will speak on the court house lawn Saturday night starting at 8:30 o'clock. District and state candidates are invited to speak next Tuesday night, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

These two candidate meetings are being sponsored by The Canyon News in order that the candidates may have an opportunity to appear before the people of Canyon in a public statement. Farmers who are able to come to the meetings are cordially invited to join in hearing the candidates.

Indications are that no other public meetings will be held in Canyon for the local candidates before the election on July 28th. The voters are therefore urged to come to this meeting where all of the candidates for county and precinct offices will be heard.

If possible, a loud speaker will be provided for Saturday night's meeting in order that the crowd may hear the candidates.

A number of meetings have been held in the various school districts of the county during the present campaign, but this is the first time that the candidates have been given an opportunity to talk to the people in Canyon.

In the meeting Saturday night, local candidates will be given about 10 minutes in which to discuss their campaign.

In the meeting next Tuesday night, district candidates will be given 15 minutes. Representatives of state candidates will be given time for a brief statement, but this meeting is being held primarily for the benefit of the district candidates.

All voters are urged to be present, and to listen to what the candidates have to present. The meetings are being held early enough before election so that all statements made by the various candidates may be checked up by the voters if they are not satisfied with claims made by the candidates in their own favor, or charges which they may make against their opponents.

The Buffalo Band is scheduled to play a concert from 7:30 until 8:30 o'clock Saturday which will be followed by the speaking program.

Rock Pile Gang Too Much for the Athletic Clubbers

In the first donkey baseball game ever played in Canyon, the College Rock Pile gang subdued the Canyon Athletic team Thursday night by a score of 8 to 6, or thereabouts.

A large crowd of College students and citizens of Canyon witnessed the game played on Buffalo field under the lights.

The batters would hit the ball, mount a pitching donkey and attempt to ride the bases. The fields were mounted, and were forced to play their position from the donkey, excepting to dismount to pick up the ball. The donkeys were trained to do just the opposite to the wishes of the riders. The antics of the donkeys were fully as amusing as the discomforts of the players who were attempting to ride the animals.

Mrs. W. H. Smith of Dallas came yesterday to visit at the home of her son, Bill Smith.

Mrs. B. T. Johnson Died Sunday Night; Funeral Tuesday

MRS. B. T. JOHNSON

Mrs. B. T. Johnson died Sunday night at 10:00 o'clock after an illness of several years. She fell several months ago, breaking her hip, and has been confined to her bed since that time.

The funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 10:00 o'clock at the First Baptist Church, conducted by Rev. J. R. Hicks. Interment followed in Dreamland Cemetery.

Mrs. Johnson was born April 22, 1869, and had reached the age of 65 years. The family has lived in Canyon for 26 years, and have been on the Plains for 40 years. Mrs. Johnson devoted much of her time to work in the Baptist church until she was taken ill. She was a leader in all departments of the Church, and was president of the women's work of Northwest Texas for many years.

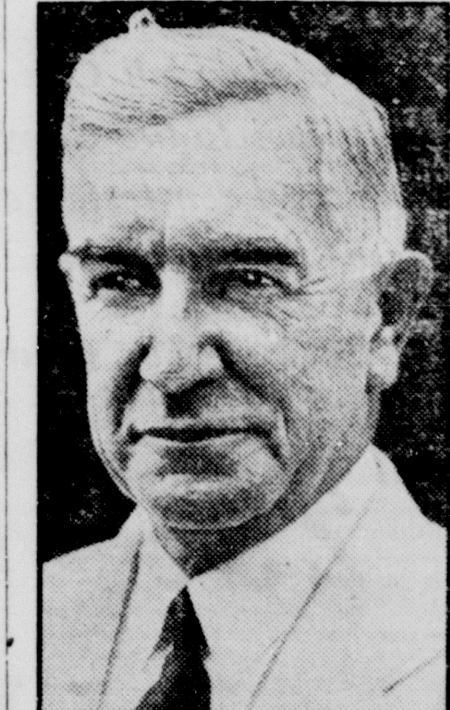

Surviving is the husband and father, B. T. Johnson, and four children, W. C. Johnson of Dallas, Paul Johnson of Fort Worth, Mrs. J. C. Compton of Portales and Mrs. A. S. Kenyon of Amarillo. A sister, Mrs. Bell Key, lives in Fort Worth.

100 Bales Made in Allotment to Randall County

100 bales of cotton is the allotment made to Randall county under the cotton reduction program.

Thirty-two farmers in the south part of the county participated in the cotton program of last year and have signed contracts for 1934.

Named Leader By Republicans

Henry P. Fletcher, above, of Greencastle, Pa., newly elected national chairman of the Republican party, will lead the party in its attempted comeback on a program of social reform. A diplomat by career and a close personal friend of former President Hoover, Fletcher succeeds Everett Sanders of Indiana in the post.

Postal Receipts Take $2,000 Jump

Harvest Bringing In Double Wheat That was Estimated

A large part of the wheat harvest in Randall county will be completed this week.

Local elevators report a pleasant surprise in the amount of wheat which has come to Canyon during the harvest period. It was estimated two weeks ago that not more than a dozen cars of wheat would be shipped from here this year, but indications are now that the loads will run up to 30 or more.

Wheat is yielding from 14 bushels to the acre, down to practically nothing. The test of all wheat so far shipped has been No. 1.

The local price for wheat this week has been 68 cents. It was believed that the price would increase owing to the general drouth over the wheat belt, but this has not been the case.

R. B. Gist, one of the big wheat farmers, stated yesterday that he harvested 3150 acres in 11½ days, with the yield running from 2 bushels to 19 bushels. This was in spite of the hail which swept over the southern part of the county causing losses ranging from 10% to 46% on the wheat.

Ideal harvest weather has been enjoyed throughout the harvest period, but the farmers are now ready for heavy rains in order to get the row crop started.

No Appointment Is Made by Jones for Canyon Postoffice

Congressman Marvin Jones has not acted in making an appointment of postmaster for Canyon. Letters from him to various citizens interested in the office indicated last week that he would make the appointment before the first of July.

Mr. Jones states that his desk is piled up with work, but that he hopes to make the appointment in a few days.

Increased Business Is Done in Canyon Office

Postal receipts in Canyon jumped more than $2,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1934, as compared with the receipts for the year ending June 30, 1933.

The total for the past year of the Canyon postoffice was $17,138.36, as compared with the receipts of $15,005.20 for the year ending June 30, 1933.

There has been a steady increase each quarter of the past year, with an increase of $995.50 for the past quarter, as compared with the last quarter of the 1933 fiscal year.

The following have been the receipts of the last year by the quarters:

Sept., 1933	$ 3,503.05
Dec., 1933	4,882.98
April, 1934	4,327.59
June, 1934	4,424.74
Total for year	$17,138.36

Caliche Base Work To Be Started On Goodnight Trail

Completion of the caliche base on the Goodnight Trail to the Palo Duro State Park will be started Monday with a large number of men from the relief office. The men have been employed for the past two weeks in repair work, getting the roadbed ready for the heavy traffic during the opening days of the Park.

W. C. Cotten, Jr., states that it will require about a month to complete the caliche base all of the way to the Park.

Nothing definite has been given out by the Highway Department regarding the topping of the Goodnight Trail, but by the time the base is completed, it is expected that some action will be taken regarding the topping.

Miss Pearl McClure, attending Seller's Beauty College at Fort Worth, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. McClure during the holidays.

2,500 CATTLE BOUGHT HERE IN CAMPAIGN

2,000 More Are Listed To Be Inspected By Government

DELIVERIES DAILY

Work Slowed Down By Taking One Vet Away

Practically 2500 head of cattle have been sold to the government by the farmers of Randall county, and 2000 head more are ready for inspection as soon as the veterinarian can get to the job. About 100 head are being received daily since one of the federal vets was taken from the county Monday noon and transferred to another county. This will cut down the number of cattle to be received daily in the future, as one man cannot keep up with the listings which are being made.

According to the figures of County Agent W. H. Upchurch, the farmers are selling 25.6% of their total herds. At the beginning of the buying, the percentage ran over 30%, but this was soon reduced to 25%. This indicates that the farmers are doing a splendid job of culling their herds.

Checks in payment for the cattle are being received almost daily. 37 checks had been distributed up to Tuesday.

The continued drouth has caused nearly all of the farmers to seek to dispose of their surplus cattle as the outlook for row crop becomes less. While no indication has been given by the government as to the length of time the buying will be continued, farmers are urged to see the local committee at once and list the cattle they wish to dispose of in order that they may be inspected on the rounds of the veterinarian.

R. A. Bellah will leave today with his daughter, Mrs. Frank Gyles of Hereford, for a three weeks' trip to Colorado.

"SHE OUGHT TO BE IN PICTURES!"

Hazlewood Seeks Second Term; Cites Record

GRADY HAZLEWOOD

Asking a second term as district attorney, Grady Hazlewood cites an unusual record for convictions, and in connection therewith, gives much credit to both the grand juries and trial juries with whom he has worked and served during the 13 months of his first term.

His statement follows:

"Up to this period of my first term as your district attorney, I believe I have reason to be proud of the office. In Randall County there has only been one jury acquittal as against some 22 jury convictions. Such a record is impossible without thorough grand jury investigations, conscientious and courageous trial juries, and a general and prevailing sentiment on the part of the entire citizenship to see that laws are enforced.

"I believe in the suspended sentence for first and young offenders, who exhibit a penitent spirit and disposition. I have recommended some and opposed others, but regardless of any recommendation in any case, I have always been willing to accept the verdict of the jury, knowing the combined opinion of 12 men is much better than my own. The county should not be placed to the expense of trying a case where there is no hope of conviction.

I have no promises to make, except to do my duty as prescribed by law. The voters of this county well know my record in office, and the large majority have known me since I moved from a farm at Silverton, Texas, to another north-west of Canyon, Texas, and during my entire school career at the West Texas State Teachers College in Canyon.

"I have tried honestly and conscientiously to do my duty; and if you think I merit a second term as district attorney, I shall be very grateful for your vote and influence."

'Hammer Killer' To Be Paroled

Clara Phillips, above, Los Angeles "hammer murderess," whose slaying of Alberta Meadows in 1922 drew nationwide attention, has been granted a parole. She will be released on June 17, 1935.

Suit Against Geo. Whittenburg Filed By Plemons Woman

The following Associated Press dispatch was sent out from Amarillo Thursday regarding George A. Whittenburg, citizen of Canyon, whose ranch and oil interests are centered in Hutchinson county:

A breach of promise suit, asking $300,000 damages, has been filed in Amarillo against George A. Whittenburg, wealthy oil man and rancher, by Lena M. Warner, formerly of Plemons, Hutchinson county.

The petition alleges that Whittenburg is worth $2,000,000, and that his father, J. A. Whittenburg, is worth $25,000,000.

The elder Whittenburg faced a similar suit in district court at Panhandle years ago.

Miss Warner charges that she was working as a telephone operator at Plemons when she met Whittenburg in 1927. She said the defendant first told her early in April that he did not intend to keep his promise of marriage.

Whittenburg could not be reached for a statement, but his attorney, J. W. Sanders, said: "There are no legal grounds for the suit."

Curtis Brown Gets Full Pardon From Governor Ferguson

Curtis Brown has received a full pardon and will not have to go to Huntsville Saturday to start his prison sentence. He had received a 60 day furlough which will expire on July 7th.

Brown was convicted in a liquor case last year, the Court of Criminal Appeals sustaining the verdict in May. A furlough was granted on the day the case was affirmed. The pardon came a week before the furlough expired.

If a candidate is to be judged by his past record, why not give him credit for what he has done, instead of merely airing the grievances which you may hold against him? A few Canyon people have not liked some of the 10,000 votes Senator Small has cast while a member of the Senate. In fact there is not a single voter in the state who would be pleased with all of his votes; he admits himself that he has made mistakes in these votes. But if the voter wants to be fair, he will draw up a balance sheet and see if Clint Small has not done more things of which the voter approves than he has done of which the voter disapproves. That is the only fair method by which any voter should arrive at his approval or his disapproval of any candidate, be it Clint Small, or some one else. The News printed the statement three weeks ago that Clint Small was responsible for retaining the West Texas State Teachers College as a senior college. No one has questioned the statement. For the people of Randall county, that one act should be sufficient for Clint Small to receive every single vote, and should offset any grievance which any voter might have against him. Furthermore, he is the only candidate who placed in his platform an approval of the teachers colleges of Texas, and the only candidate for Governor who had declared time and again in his speeches that he favors retaining the educational system as it now is. Some of the other candidates have spoken in general terms, and others have written letters to friends regarding their views, but Clint Small has spoken his mind on the question. Let's be fair in judging the candidates.

President Roosevelt made another of those pleasing, impressive radio talks Thursday night. Putting it squarely up to each citizen, he asked, "How are YOU, compared to 18 months ago?" Of course we all argue that the government has started a lot of unheard of things, and is doing things that it never should have started. Most citizens realize that the government must stop its activities, and let every citizen go back upon his own resources. But regardless of the future, there are few American citizens who will not say that President Roosevelt is a brave and fearless leader, who has pulled this nation out of a mighty tough spot. The wide-spread drought is responsible for the disastrous situation of the present, more than the effects of the depression. Summing up the situation, as to how it is with the individual citizen, a vast majority will be able to say, "A little better, thanks to YOU, Mr. Roosevelt." If you are thinking back to those crazy, super-prosperity days of '29, just as well forget them. Those days were as abnormal, as were the blackest depression days.

Human nature is certainly funny. Remember a few years past when a bunch of citizens from various towns got together, how they would boast about their various communities, and how prosperous everything was, and how business was booming. Today, coast to coast, everyone is complaining how terrible conditions are, how the drought has cut things to sub-zero, and how the government must do more, or else. Government aid has helped a lot of people out of a mighty tight place, but it has made us a nation of beggars—every fellow trying to put up a little stronger hard luck story than the other fellow, hoping thereby to get more from the government. Things must change soon. It is the duty of every citizen to aid the government, rather than the government helping him.

Few towns have a good band which is not costing the municipality a large amount of money. Canyon is one of those fortunate towns, in that the Buffalo Band is costing the local citizens nothing, but is available for most civic enterprises. Perhaps the citizens do not fully appreciate the Buffalo Band because it is costing us nothing. C. E. Strain, director, is one of the best band directors in Texas. He is doing a lot of hard work, and spending his own money in order to keep the band going. Mr. Strain and members of the Band should be encouraged in

Scientific Knowledge Main Aim, Altitude Record Secondary in Stratosphere Flight

Largest Balloon Built Will Carry Explorers to Dizzy Heights

By NEA Service

SEEKING scientific information far beyond any yet attained by man, two army flyers will start a stratosphere flight in July from the gigantic bowl that is Moonlight valley, in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

Knowledge is the goal of Maj. W. E. Kepner and Capt. A. W. Stevens; an altitude record is a secondary consideration, though they will not pass up a chance to set one.

The balloon which will lift their gondola is the largest ever constructed. It is five times as large as any ever before built in America and three and one-half times as large as any European gas bag.

When inflated the balloon will tower 300 feet above the ground and 3,000,000 cubic feet of inflammable hydrogen gas will be required to fill it.

ALMOST a ton of scientific instruments, mostly automatic, will be carried in the gondola, which is airtight and will contain oxygen tanks, that Kepner and Stevens may breathe in the rarefied atmosphere.

The gondola is of duralumin, an alloy which is composed of 95 per cent of magnesium, one of the lightest of metals. Fitted with numerous windows and portholes, it will be control cabin, pilot house, and air-borne laboratory of the expedition.

One glass-covered port will be in the exact top of the sphere, so Major Kepner, who is the balloon pilot, can look through it and the open bottom of the gas bag's appendix to check the hydrogen gas temperature by a large thermometer in the balloon.

The opening in the bottom of the ball will be reserved for an aerial camera, which Stevens, an expert in that line, will operate.

ONE extremely important opening in the gondola will be only an inch in diameter. Through it will be passed more than three tons of tiny lead shot, the ballast to be released in operating the every way possible. Citizens of Canyon appreciate the band; they should show this appreciation.

The News prints on this page today two editorials regarding the Palo Duro State Park. The people of Texas are greatly interested in the proper development of this great work of nature. That the Park will continue to receive favorable mention on the part of the people of Texas is clearly shown by the statements of the Dallas News and the Star-Telegram. The Park is no longer merely a Canyon-Amarillo project; it belongs to the people of the Southwest.

Bank deposits up to $5,000 are now insured by the federal government. This means that 99% of the depositors in small towns are fully protected in their deposits. If there are any citizens who doubt the determination of President Roosevelt to restore the confidence of the people in American institutions, let them consider this one act. Money in the bank is now absolutely safe; kept in your home, there is danger of fire and theft.

Cod Liver Oil Marie Dresden was fired as relief administrator as soon as control of the relief board was removed from the hands of the Ferguson administration. Now if the commission will fire two-thirds of the loafers they have on the payrolls, and give the money which is being wasted by these loafers to the poor of the state in exchange for real labor, Texas will profit by the relief program.

PALO DURO PARK

Dallas News: The opening of the Palo Duro Park July 4 will be occasion also for celebration of the first real accomplishment in a long-discussed Texas park program. A State park plan is one of those things that Texans have done much talking about without much action. A number of sites have been donated to the State, some of which are suitable for parks and some of which are not, and there are five or six small parks maintained by the State to commemorate historic events. The opening of Palo Duro, however, with its 14,000 acres of scenic grandeur may be put down as the first forward step in a State parks program.

Texas ought to make it the first of a number of rapid steps. A system of State parks will add much to the centennial celebration and the several outstanding park sites should be developed immediately. Locations that ought to receive attention are the Caddo Lake region near Marshall, Frio Canyon

The balloon, with all its attachments and load, will weigh nearly eight tons as it rises from the ground.

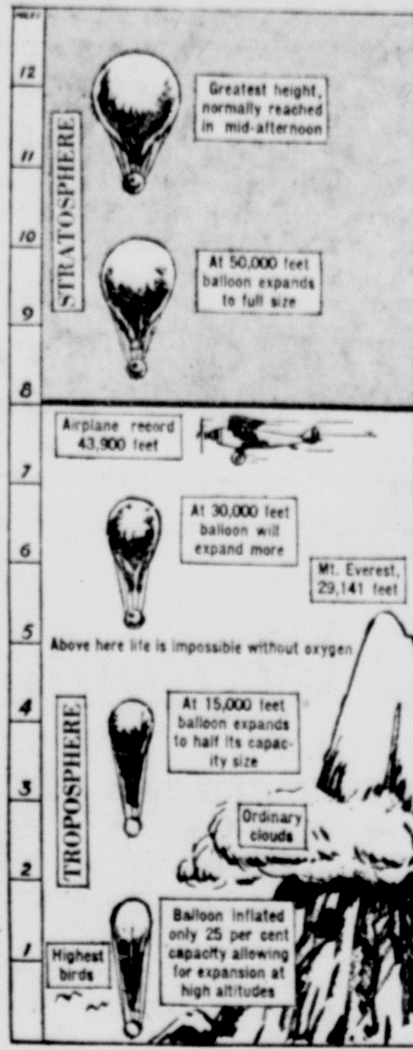

The specified scientific accomplishments which Kepner and Stevens hope to make on their flight are: Temperature and barometric measurements from the earth to the ceiling of their flight; check on barometer measurements of altitude, by optical methods; bottling of samples of air at several high altitudes; ascertainment of the atmosphere's electrical condition from the 5000-foot level to the flight ceiling.

In Real County, and either the Davis, the Chisos or the Guadalupe Mountains in the Trans-Pecos. All three of the last mentioned places should be developed eventually, but it would hardly be practicable to establish a park at more than one of these places before the centennial celebration.

Texans have been more neglectful in the development of a system of parks, considering the opportunity that exists, than in most other matters. The principal reason—the fact that the State donated all of its remaining lands to the schools by the Constitution of 1876—has often been pleaded but this can not remain an excuse always. Now is the time to carry forward the park program which makes a splendid start in the opening of Palo Duro.

THE PALO DURO PARK

Star-Telegram: The opening of the Palo Duro Park, which will be the occasion of a celebration July 4, brings to the State its first large scale park development. It is not the only project of the sort now existing, since good progress has been made toward creating a national park in the Texas section of the Guadalupe Mountains, adjoining the national parks in

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

Youngsters Pop Into Home Run Lead; Cunningham Marches on to Four-Minute Mile; Pirates Will Fight for New Leader, Pie Traynor

Bob Johnson, upper left, slugging Philadelphia outfielder, has clubbed his way to home run honors in the majors in recent weeks. Center is Harold "Pie" Traynor, Pirate third sacker, who recently replaced George Gibson as manager of the Bucs. Right is Glenn Cunningham, great Kansas miler who set a new world record of 4:06.7 in competition against Bill Bonthron and Gene Venzke at Princeton.

BY PHILIP MARTIN

WITH Babe Ruth presumably playing his final season as a regular, and considered through as a leading manufacturer of home runs, the logical successor to the Babe's crown was thought to be either Lou Gehrig or Jimmy Foxx.

As the season progresses, however, we find two youngsters on top—Bob Johnson, playing his second season with Connie Mack, leading the pack, and Zeke Bonura, gigantic rookie first sacker of the White Sox, crowding him closely.

Johnson, who hails from Oklahoma, recently hit five homers in three days at Philadelphia and Jimmy Foxx, somewhat of a four-burse swatter in his own right, has found the pace set by Bob at the present time a little too fast.

The same situation prevails in Chicago, where Zeke Bonura has stolen the home run thunder from his more illustrious teammate, Al Simmons. The Chicago management remodeled Comiskey Park to assist Al in piling up a few more homers, but thus far he has failed to take advantage of this generous gesture and Bonura has supplanted him.

All of which goes to prove that youth will be served.

IF Glenn Cunningham and Bill Bonthron hook up in many more one-mile duels, the time for this distance is very likely to be cut to 4 minutes, because Bonthron's torrid competition always brings out the very best there is in the Jayhawker.

In less than a year, Glenn has chopped nine-tenths second from the old mark, climaxing his efforts with a world record of 4:06.7 at Princeton recently.

The cantering Kansan has given the one-mile event a new style of running. Formerly a speedy mile was obtained in a rapid first half, a relaxed third quarter, and a rush in the final lap.

Upsetting all previous theories, Cunningham steps a fast third quarter and then goes on for an even faster last one. He has done this repeatedly, in spite of the fact that cinder experts have long considered it physically impossible.

NATIONAL LEAGUE followers are of the opinion that elevation of Pie Traynor to the managership of the Pittsburgh Pirates is a clever bit of baseball strategy, and is likely to transform the Buccaneers into a formidable pennant threat.

The Pirates, a strong team on paper slumped badly in the last few weeks under direction of George Gibson, and the Smoky City fans clamored for his scalp.

In recognition of his popularity with the fans and his long service with the team, Pie was appointed Gibson's successor, a choice which the baseball public of Pittsburgh heartily approved.

Traynor, best third baseman in the game, should not have Gibson's trouble. The boys will fight for him.

Senator Connally Opens Campaign in Interest Re-Election

SENATOR TOM CONNALLY

Tom Connally, junior United States senator from Texas, opened his campaign for re-election in an address at Greenville, Saturday night by recounting his part in recovery measures of President Roosevelt's administration and citing his stand on important policies.

He quoted from a letter by the president to John N. Garner, vice-president, saying that the last congress would go down in history as one of large accomplishments for the national good and said he "deemed it an honor to have had a part in such accomplishments."

"It was worth the sacrifice of my personal interests which was entailed by remaining in Washington," he said. "Now that I am free to return to Texas and to mingle with my constituents and friends, I am happy to embrace the opportunity to report to the democracy of Texas as to how I have discharged the high trust which has been given into my keeping. By the public record I am willing to be judged. . . . On the record I take my stand. I have followed the banner of democracy and I stand by it now."

Connally then cited the Connally amendment adopted by the senate to increase the tariff duty on cattle, his proposal and subsequent enactment of drought legislation in 1929 for the good of Texas farmers, the Jones-Connally cattle relief act, his co-authorship of the Connally-Patman American Legion bill providing for coinage of memorial half dollars for the Texas centennial, his policy of supporting measures to adequately care for wounded, disabled or diseased veterans and their widows and orphans and his attitude on the prohibition question.

On the prohibition question he said:

"In 1932 the democrats of Texas by party referendum voted for the submission to the people of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. The democratic national convention declared for the submission by congress of a repeal resolution. As a democrat I voted in the senate for the repeal resolution submitting repeal to a vote of the people themselves. In the election in Texas, exercising the right guaranteed to every citizen . . . I individually voted against repeal. After submission the people of the United States adopted repeal by a large majority and I accept their verdict. It is no longer a national issue."

The American tourist goes to Europe to spend money but the European tourist comes to America to deliver lectures and get paid for it. Yet they say we are the dollar chasing nation.

BURGLARS In the HOUSE? Call The Police

Old Furniture in the House? CALL 41

Prowlers and house-thieves may never be anything more to you than a headline in the paper. Yet on the off chance of your frightened night call, armed police are ready to race to your front door.

But what of the space-thieves in your home? The old bed-in-the-spare-room, the ancient bureau-in-the-attic, the 1928 radio-in-the-parlor? A phone call can dispose of these, too. And almost as fast.

Go through your house today. Make a list of those White Elephants—the things that have been hanging on for months and years. You don't want them. Somebody does. Who, is our problem, not yours . . .

A TRIBUTE TO MRS. B. T. JOHNSON

A beautiful life, kind and true leaves its fragrance long after the fragile vase is shattered. The fragrance of kindness, faithfulness to duty, hospitality, and loyalty will always attend the memory of Canyon's friend, Mrs. B. T. Johnson, who left us Sunday night, July the first.

She was born in 1869 and assumed the duty of wifehood when only seventeen years of age. She was the careful, loving mother of seven children, four of whom survive her, namely, Walter of Dallas, Paul, of Fort Worth, Mrs. Bessie Compton, of Portales, New Mexico, and Mrs. Nannie Kenyon, of Amarillo.

Her home was the home of all other boys and girls who cared to enter. Hundreds of her young friends trusted her motherly interest and confided in her, knowing that her sympathetic heart would understand their problems. For many years she was teacher of a young man's class in the Canyon Baptist Sunday School, her husband being at the same time teacher of the young ladies' class, and at least once a month their home was the scene of good fellowship for the two classes.

Mrs. Johnson was the soul of hospitality. She was usually the first to greet the stranger within our gates. The family drove a surrey with a team of gray horses which was known as the "hospitality chariot."

This good woman was the embodiment of the Christian graces, an active servant of the Master until ill health made it necessary to retire. Her work in the Missionary Union was recognized not only in Texas, but all over the southland.

Our friend has gone to the home of the soul where the "King of Kings" has said, "Well done thou good and faithful servant, henceforth is laid up for you a crown of glory."

MRS. J. A. HILL.

Veterans Allowed to Stay At Palo Duro For 3 Months More

The men who had served a year in CCC work were allowed to remain by a change of order received Friday night. A former order would have forced 86 men to retire Saturday as their time had expired. 81 of the men re-enlisted under the new order.

Thirteen veterans were designated to report to Fort Sill to assist in the organization of new companies which will be placed in Oklahoma and Texas. Five of these men come from 1828 and eight from 1821.

Delinquent Taxes Are Paid Saturday To Co. Collector

Several thousand dollars of delinquent taxes were collected up to Saturday, which was the last day for making such payments before the heavy penalties were added under the new law passed by the last session of the legislature.

Delinquent tax payments were heavier this year than for many years, owing to the large number of loans which are being made by the Federal Land Bank and the Home Owners Loan. All loan companies were very active in clearing up delinquent taxes while the penalties were small. Many local citizens took advantage of the low rates and paid up before the first of July.

Small Meteor Hits Stubble Field at R. B. Gist Farm

A small meteor fell in the stubble field near the R. B. Gist home, setting fire to the field in seven places. Mr. Gist was awakened at 2:30 in the morning by the fire, which spread over a strip 100 by 300 yards. Had the wheat been standing, the fire would have been very dangerous, and probably resulted in a large damage.

Mr. Gist was unable to find any of the fragments of the meteor, and believes that only small pieces fell to the ground in his field.

THE IMP OF THE PERVERSE

'Electric Eye,' Industry's Wonder Tool, Performs Countless Tasks

A NEW and magic tool of industry—the "electric eye"—is proving to be a jack of most trades, and learning new ones all along.

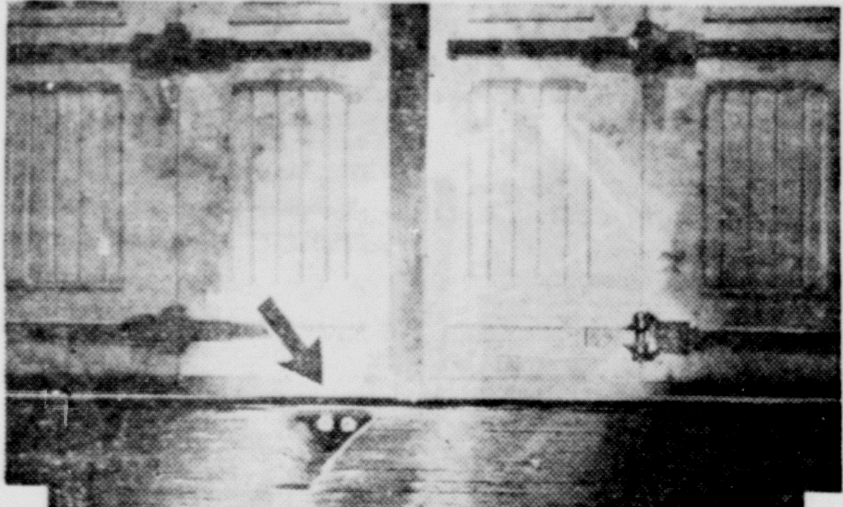

There is nothing in the appearance of the "eye" to hint at its wondrous powers. The commonest type looks like a radio tube, ranging from the size of a peanut to that of a pumpkin. But, proving that you can't judge anything by its looks, this device can and does perform a thousand and one duties.

It opens and closes doors, times college sprinters, tells a bowler when he steps over the foul line, regulates traffic, counts people, automobiles and delivery cars, foils crooks and kidnapers, puts out fires, and makes possible the telegraphing of photographs. And this is just part of its repertoire.

It was the discovery of light-sensitive minerals that made possible the "electric eye." The oldest type of "eye" is the selenium cell, which changes its electric resistance to the flow of current when light falls on the selenium.

As long as a ray of light shines into the eye, there is no reaction. But when that ray is interrupted, say, by a kidnaper climbing in a window or a person approaching a door, the flow of current through the photo-electric cell increases. The impulse thus created is amplified by a grid-glow tube and actuates relays, which ring an alarm or open a door.

In other types of electric eyes, the amount of light which strikes the mineral produces a corresponding amount of current. Such types of eyes are used to measure smoke density; and to record on

The electric eye—indicated by arrows—counts carloads of sand, upper left; extinguishes fires, upper right; and opens garage door when the beam of headlight is flashed on it, below.

"talkie" films sound waves which have been translated into density of light.

The remarkable ability of the electric eye to distinguish shades of color is being utilized in many ways. Cigars, beans, eggs, yeast and other products are sorted by devices which automatically eliminate anything off color, no matter how slightly.

The identical shade of an unknown dye or paint can be reproduced at any time, and the amount of haemoglobin, or red coloring matter in the blood, is measured in hospitals by the same means.

TURNING on the fountain when you bend over for a drink; swinging open garage doors as you drive up with your headlights on, and lighting airports by means of searchlight beams from a plane; turning traffic lights green when automobiles approach; even such delicate work as sorting and filing cards—are now everyday tasks for the "electric eye." But these duties are just incidental, scientists claim. The surface, they say, hasn't even been scratched.

Television, and the making of electricity direct from sunlight—these are the supreme achievements for which the electric eye is being groomed and made ready. Practical television is already with us; but its fleeting images are still too crude to make it a source of much entertainment.

The sunshine falling on each square foot of the earth's surface amounts to 175 watts. And that which pours on the decks of the average Atlantic liner is more than enough to drive her at full speed. Already one type of electric eye has been invented that converts light into electricity, but the amount that can be produced is still very small.

When the time comes that we may put a few square yards of inexpensive photo-cells in our back yard to gather plenty of electricity to do our everyday work, and light our homes at night, the "electric eye," scientists believe, will have been responsible.

HEALTH PRESSURE COOKER for CANNING

Canning under steam pressure by means of the Health Pressure Cooker is endorsed by every well informed expert. The United States Department of Agriculture says that it is the only safe method of cold pack canning. The reason for this is that the high temperatures and steam under pressure effectually kills disease breeding germs such as the deadly microbe that causes ptomaine poisoning. Complete directions for canning with time schedule and recipes accompany each National Pressure Cooker.

"Read that again, suh. Read it once mo' so's de lady kin ketch de full solemnity ob de meanin'. I's been married befoh."

An Irishman, who was an eligible bachelor, visited a widow in his district every evening and had tea with her. A friend suggested that he should marry the lady.

"I have often thought about it," he said, "but where should I spend my evenings then?"

As Madman Pondered Suicide

A quick movement on the part of the man in the car would have meant certain death for these three men and the photographer. In this dramatic tableau, two Alameda, Calif., police officers are shown trying to dissuade depression-crazed Frank Bennett from committing suicide, after he had threatened to blast himself into eternity with dynamite wired to his wrists. The tragedy was prevented.

Terrific Blasts in This Fire Cost Six Lives

Flames sprayed over firemen and spectators from this conflagration, killing six and injuring more than a score, when two 20,000-gallon gasoline tanks exploded during the height of the blaze, which raged at the Richfield oil farm, near Jamestown, N. Y. Dense billows of smoke can be seen rolling away from the center of the fire, while cars of the curious and the fire fighters are parked at a safe distance.

FIRST LYCEUM NUMBER TO BE FRIDAY WEEK

Pictures Man's Rise From Savagery To Civilization

BY DR. BREASTED

This Picture Has Been Nearly Three Years
In Making

Man's rise from savagery to civilization, as discovered from the excavations of the famous Oriental Institute of the University of Chicago, will be shown in an eight-reel talking motion picture, "The Human Adventure," in the Main Auditorium of the West Texas State Teachers College at 8:15 p. m., July 6. The program is under the auspices of the West Texas State Teachers College in co-operation with the University of Chicago press.

Nearly three years in the actual making, the motion picture summarizes not only the work of the Institute's 14 expeditions in Egypt, Palestine, Syria, Anatolia, Assyria, Babylonia, and Persia, but the lifetime of brilliant archaeological study of Dr. James Henry Breasted, Director of the Institute. Charles Breasted, executive secretary, who directed the production and narrates the running story, twice made aeroplane trips of 3,000 miles with a cameraman to photograph the ruins and restoration of buried cities that were once civilization's birthplace in the Near East.

Man's groping climb from prehistoric savagery is pictured in broad sweeps from Stone Age hunters, their houses and cooking utensils, through thousands of years that saw the rise and fall of mighty empires and great rulers. It is told also in trivial details that sharpen the underlying theme—the transiency of material civilization, by the chickens pecking in the great hall of Xerxes, and the footprint left by a wandering mongrel in the soft clay of a paving slab set out in the sun to dry after it had received the imprimatur of Sargon the Second's royal seal.

The stables where Solomon, king and horsetrader, kept his blooded horses; an 1100-ton granite obelisk, abandoned because of a flaw, after slaves had wearily cut it out by literally pulverizing the granite with stones held between their hands; the temple of Karnak which was under construction for 2,000 years, and the magnificently sculptured double staircase of the ancient Persian palace at Persepolis, are incidents in this drama of man's progress.

Prefaced by a brief pictorial presentation of Man's evolution, and an interpretation by Dr. Breasted of the lost story of civilization, the camera record begins with the prehistoric survey of the Stone Age

Chinch Bug War Follows Drouth

Adding their ravages to that of the drouth, chinch bugs multiplied at a tremendous rate in the midwest and here is shown the battle being waged on them in one sector. H. T. Horning is pouring creosote on a dust barrier in a University of Illinois cornfield. The insects cannot cross the ridge and when enough of them have been gathered in the ditch at the left they will be smothered in a bath of oil. These pests eat fields bare if they can attain a foothold.

hunters, remote ancestors of the pyramid builders, forced to the Nile by the climatic changes which turned nearly a third of Africa into the great Sahara Desert.

In sequence is the work at the site of the ancient Egyptian cemetery called Kakkara, where from 3,000 B. C. Memphis buried its dead. At Luxor, 360 miles to the south, where ancient Thebes stood, the Institute is copying the vast library of historical records inscribed on the walls of the enormous Theban temples, principally those of Medinet Haba and the neighboring temple of Karnak. The "layer cake" of civilization at the mound of Megiddo—the Armageddon of the Bible—guarding the pass through which invading forces have marched from Africa to Asia since the beginning of time, is shown at the Solomonic level.

From Megiddo the story continues to the Syrian expedition near Antioch, where two ancient Syrian cities are being completely excavated. An ancient Alishar, at a depth of a hundred feet, the expedition discovered the foundations of a Stone Age house, with a roof support still standing on its stone base. At successively higher levels, were the records of the Copper Age, the Bronze Age, and finally the Iron Age, surmounted by the foundations of a Christian chapel of about 300-500 A. D.

From Alishar, the flight into history moves eastward to Khorsabad, where about 720 B. C. the Assyrian emperor, Sargon II, founded a city a mile square. He reigned only seventeen years, his vast town scarcely surviving him. The great buildings collapsed and the existence of the city was forgotten until 90 years ago.

It was here that the Oriental Institute excavated the famous winged bull, now in its Museum. It was here also that the stray dog left his footprint for posterity along with the imprint of Sargon's seal. The king's spacious bathroom; recessed for a tub of modern shape, probably stolen for its bronze or even precious metals, is exposed again after twenty-six centuries.

The Babylonian era is shown by the work of the Iraq expedition, operating at Tell Asmar, 30 miles northeast of Baghdad. When Tell Asmar 4000 years ago was the capital city of the earliest great civilization in Asia, the now desolate land was a flourishing garden area. The layers of adobe mud, formed by the disintegration of buildings by rains, have preserved much of the ancient city and its clay tablet records.

Last of the four great oriental empires with which the picture is concerned is the Persian. At Persepolis are the ruins of the tremendous palaces of Darius and Xerxes. Here the expedition forces live in the restored harem palace. The fifty-foot terrace wall, with blocks weighing over forty tons, from which the emperors reviewed their troops, still remains. There is also the stately sculptured dou-

Hawaii Looks Forward to Seeing U. S. President for First Time

If, as he plans, Franklin D. Roosevelt cruises to Hawaii this summer, it will be the first time an American president has set foot on this outlying United States possession.

And Hawaii is excited by the prospect. Kings, princes, and other men of eminence are frequent visitors to the colorful archipelago; but this will be the Hawaiians' first chance to greet the chief of their mother nation. The president's 7000-mile cruise will probably begin late in June. On a warship, likely the U. S. S. Indianapolis, he plans to start from Annapolis, Md., heading first for the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico; thence through the Panama Canal and across the Pacific to Honolulu.

In the Virgin Islands, President Roosevelt will get a first-hand glimpse of American territory which, as late as 1931, was described as "a poorhouse." There, too, he may expect a rousing reception.

Because of his New Deal, the island natives, crushed by centuries of neglect and 14 years of dire depression, are at last optimistic and hopeful of prosperity.

Uncle Sam is setting up a million-dollar corporation to restore the island trade and bring good times to the inhabitants.

AFTER passing through the Panama Canal and crossing 2000 miles of water, the snow-capped peak of Mauna Kea will give the president his first view of Hawaii.

In this string of eight islands, a chain stretching southeast to northwest, life is not as many people picture it. Activity in Hawaii is not confined to bronzed natives riding surf-boards or strumming ukuleles in the shade of hibiscus hedges, with dusky maidens doing the hula.

Nowadays, great pineapple and sugar plantations, which cover the territory, keep the inhabitants busy.

Honolulu, 100 years ago a village of straggling grass huts, is today a modern city of 140,000 people, with great banks, railroads and steamship terminals.

Progress likewise has changed the racial character of the population. Now, pure Hawaiians make up a comparatively small part of the islands' inhabitants. Just as numerous, or more so, are Japanese, Chinese, Spanish, Filipino, and Caucasian natives.

But despite its hybrid population, Hawaii has set for other countries a shining example in the way of harmony. In few parts of the world does life flow as smoothly as it does in the Hawaiian chain.

With this tranquillity and the natural beauty of the islands, the Hawaiian stay should furnish a pleasant climax to the president's vacation trip.

THE GREAT AMERICAN HOME

Palo Duro

been awarded to Texas in the new drouth set up. Mr. Colp has requested one of these companies for the Palo Duro, but has not been definitely informed regarding this matter. If the new company is assigned here, the three units with 750 men will be practically as large as the four companies which spent the winter here. Mr. Colp has been informed that two more companies will be moved here from the mountains for winter work about the first of November.

Mr. Colp expressed great satisfaction with progress being made at the Park. Materials will arrive on time from now on, he believes. Work has been greatly retarded the past three months on account of the lack of materials.

The rodeo, under the direction of Leonard Stroud, was a very fine attraction for about 5,000 people who massed around the arena. All of the acts will be given again Sunday afternoon, the closing day for the celebration period.

The other special days are expected to bring large crowds to the Park.

DR. LOCKHART TO CINCINNATI

Dr. William Lockhart has reported to the City Hospital in Cincinnati, Ohio, where he will serve as interne. He passed the medical examinations two weeks ago at Austin. On his way east he visited Dr. R. A. Neblett's father at Jackson, Tenn., and his sister, Mrs. Faye Lockhart Mayes in Indiana.

College Resumes Work After Vacation of Four Days

Hundreds of students of W. T. took advantage of the Fourth of July four day vacation to make short trips out of town. Classes were resumed today.

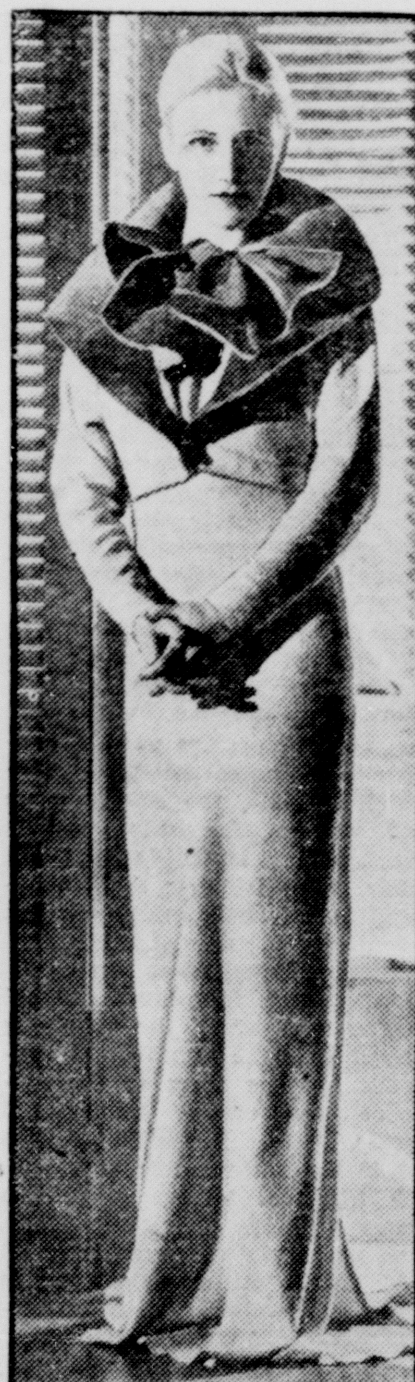

The vacation period started Saturday afternoon and continued until last night.

While most of the students living within a hundred miles of Canyon took this opportunity of making a trip home, many others went to the Carlsbad Cavern or Taos, New Mexico. Many others spent considerable time in exploring the Palo Duro State Park.

A large number of the faculty members took time out for short fishing and camping trips.

Jack W. Burnett has returned from a two weeks visit with his aunt at Montrose, Colo.

Evening Gown of Distinction

A glamorously lovely evening ensemble is this one of clopette crepe in buttercup color, with contrast of burnt orange velvet windblown collar and breeze-riden bow, worn by Ann Harding, screen star, at a formal dinner dance. The jacket is waist length and fastens with one button. The wide Elizabethan collar and revers tilt forward. The frock is backless, the skirt has rippling lines, and a short train adds chic.

Canyon Rotary To Meet College Boys Tonight

Play night will be held to night under the lights of Buffalo Stadium. This is the first of the Play Nights that will be held every two weeks for a year, according to Coach Baggett, who is in charge of the bi-monthly occasions.

The entire student body is promised a good time and all are invited to participate. As an added attraction the Canyon Rotary Club will take on the Rock Pile Pounders in what promises to be a breath taking seance of soft ball.

Next Play Night, July 20, will feature the Physical Education Department of the College in a special program. Every other Play Night will have a feature program.

Light Rainfall Reported First 6 Months of '34

Canyon has received 6.53 inches of rain for the first six months of the year, according to a special report filed by Clyde Warwick to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The government is seeking information as to the severity of the drouth through special reports.

A light shower of .10 of an inch fell Sunday afternoon in Canyon. The following is the report by months:

January	.10
February	.00
March	2.25
April	.51
May	2.36
June	1.31

Two business men were discussing a competitor who once had been an employe of the older of the two men.

"I ordered that bathtub three months ago," he wrote, "and now winter is coming on and the bathing season is practically over. You can exchange it for a wood stove or keep it. I have no use for it."

Accidents will happen, which no doubt explains some of the salads we are asked to eat.
